CONFERS WITH COOLIDGE

Governor Groesbeck of Michigan Delegation Back Native Son

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C. — While unexpected opposition apparently is delaying action by a senate judiciary subcommittee on the nomination of Attorney Stone to be a justice of the supreme court, the name of Charles B. Warren of Michigan has emerged prominently in unofficial discussion of the possible succession to the impending cabinet vacancy.

Mr. Warren's name has figured persistently in discussion of the attorney generalship despite the unanimous endorsement of Governor Groesbeck of Michigan by the delegation in the house from that state and by Senator Couzens as their first and only choice for the appointment.

The president is known to hold Mr. Warren in the highest regard and has frequently conferred with him and seen his host at the White House. One of these conferences was held Friday and later the president saw Senator Couzens and afterwards Mr. Stone—a series of calls which were looked upon as significant by those who feel that Mr. Warren's aversion to returning to public life is not an insuperable obstacle to his possible acceptance of a cabinet post.

Mr. Warren's desire to be a private citizen for a while after his service in many high official government capacities has served however, to hold other possibilities for the appointment in the twilight of discussions. These include James M. Beck of Pennsylvania, solicitor general, William J. Donovan of New York, an assistant attorney general, Governor Groesbeck and Justice Rugg of the Massachusetts Supreme judicial court.

HOUSE SEEKS ACTION ON BANKING MEASURE

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C.—A final vote on the McFadden banking bill before the weekend adjournment was the objective of house leaders Saturday who were confronted with two more hours of general debate before the measure could be considered under the five minute rule with amendments in order.

Ability of the house to reach a vote on passage Saturday depended, it was admitted, on the ability of those in charge of the bill to limit the discussion to some of the controversial sections, particularly those dealing with branch banking.

At the outset of debate Friday the bill was assailed by Representative Nelson of Wisconsin, a Republican insurgent. On the other hand Charles McFadden of the banking committee, author of the proposal, declared its passage was imperative to safeguard the interests of national banks subjected to severe competition from state chartered institutions.

PARIS FINANCE CONCLAVE HITS SNAG, IS REPORT

Allied Conference Fails to Maintain Pace Set Friday in Opening

By Associated Press

Paris — The interallied financial conference has failed to maintain the pace it started with and Saturday morning is much where it was Thursday night. Even the Anglo-American negotiations still are progressing only "normally," a number of details having yet to be settled and the approval of Washington given to what has already been accomplished before a satisfactory conclusion can be reached.

Le Cat is responsible for the statement that at their meeting Friday evening James A. Logan Jr., of the American delegation, and the British chancellor of the exchequer, Winston Churchill, hit upon a plan of compromise by which England would abandon her still outstanding contentions in return for help by the United States in bringing the pound sterling back to parity. This, however, entirely lacks confirmation from other sources.

The principal difficulty continues to be the Belgium's share in the reparations from Germany, a question which involves almost all the other problems before the conference.

DENY CONTROL OF RADIO BROADCASTING PROGRAMS

New York—The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. through its "X" Parkers assistant vice president in charge of radio broadcasting, Friday denied reports that the company had perfected and would put in use a device making it possible to control the reception of its programs.

"The popular opinion that the 'big companies' are trying to discover some way by which they can limit the reception of their broadcasting to those who will pay them for it is all wrong," said Mr. Parkers. "The big broadcasters are of two classes, those who use the radio to advertise and those who broadcast to promote the sale of recording sets and such like. It is evident, therefore, that no broadcaster's interest leads to doing anything that will limit the reception of broadcasting, but leads instead to extending it in every way possible."

COOLIDGE STAND QUASHES CHANCE OF RAISING GUNS

President Seeks to Hinder Resumption of Naval Competition

Washington, D. C.—Proposals in congress for elevation of turret guns on American capital ships were regarded by most of official Washington Saturday as being practically dead in view of President Coolidge's positive stand against such alterations.

Senate and house naval committees have been withholding action on gun elevation proposals for some time with indications that no attempt would be made to press them if administration opposition should be made known. The president's position, based on the opinion that elevation of the guns would reverse the policy effected by the Washington arms limitation conference and bring about a resumption of international competition in armaments, was made unmistakably clear Friday at the White House.

The technical right of the United States to elevate the guns and the question of costs the work would entail are looked upon by the president as minor considerations in comparison with the question of reverting to armament competition. He hopes to strengthen the policy of non-competition as announced in the arms limitation, which he feels has the support of public opinion and intends to combat with all his power agitation designed to change that opinion.

HUGHES TAKES FIRST STEP TO BACK UP PACT

Secretary Makes Appeal to Avoid Resumption of Naval Competition

BRITISH NAVY SUPERIOR

Whole Question Depends Upon Probability of War in Next Ten Years

By David Lawrence

Copyright 1925, by the Post Pub. Co. Washington, D. C.—The first step in defense of the spirit, if not the letter of the Washington conference for the limitation of armament has been taken by Secretary Hughes, who makes the same appeal as does Great Britain that technical differences between the American and British navies shall not be employed to continue the competition in armaments.

For several months the controversy between the naval men of this country who think the guns on the battleships should be elevated and the navalists abroad who think such a move would alter the terms of the Washington arms treaties has been going on with the result that congress has tried to get at the facts and formulate a policy. The public has also been told by certain elements that America is being outwitted by Great Britain and that the American navy is in truth inferior to the British when the ratio set up by the arms conference was to have been an equality as between America and Great Britain.

Mr. Hughes reveals in his communication to congress that there is room for differences of opinion on the construction of the Washington treaties despite the British viewpoint that the pacts would be altered by elevating American guns. But the British declare also that even if they are wrong about the interpretation of the treaties, America should desist so as not to start the race in armaments again.

With this appeal the president and secretary of state are in accord and congress virtually is requested to follow the policy of the executive. The reason for agreeing with the British is that the alterations apply to existing ships which under the treaty can be replaced in ten or twelve years anyhow with all the new equipment necessary with respect to guns or anything else.

DEPENDS ON WAR PROSPECTS

The whole thing resolves itself to whether there is going to be a war between American and Great Britain in the next ten years, for obviously the American fleet's ratio is above that of the Japanese. Two governments do not see the slightest prospect of a physical conflict and even if there were ill-fitting the economic condition of Britain and the United States is such that no war would be attempted for another decade.

The importance, on the other hand of eliminating the point at issue is that it saves both Britain and the United States from the necessity of spending large sums, not only to elevate guns but to accomplish other technical improvements which are on the whole regarded as inconsequential as between America and Great Britain.

Oil Prosecution Seeks Testimony of Canadians

Toronto, Canada—Counsel for Alton Pomorene and Owen J. Roberts, special United States attorneys, investigating the oil scandal Friday filed in the dominion courts an action seeking more latitude in their efforts to obtain testimony from H. S. The action is in answer to an appeal by Oiler from a decision ordering him to submit to examination at the hands of the American attorneys.

The United States attorneys seek to question Oiler who is said to be hunting big game in the Sudan, concerning the supposed payment of $50,000 in liberty bonds to former Secretary of the Interior Fall in a deal purported to have grown out of oil transactions with the Sinclair interests.

FREE OFFICIALS FROM BLAME IN GIANTS SCANDAL

Report of Commissioner Landis Implicates Only Dolan and O'Connell

By Associated Press

Chicago — Official records of Baseball Commissioner K. J. Landis' investigation of the New York Giants bribery scandal of 1924 made public Saturday disclosed nothing involving any baseball officials.

The stenographic record of Landis' interrogation of the players named as alleged participants in the attempt to "throw a game" revealed that the commissioner found no evidence against any one except "Cory" Dolan, Giant coach, and Jimmy O'Connell, Giant outfielder.

Dolan persistently declared he had no recollection of any suggestion to O'Connell as alleged by the latter, to offer "Heinie" Sands, Philadelphia shortstop, $500 not to play too hard against the Giants club, which was in a crucial position in the National league pennant race.

The record shows that the commissioner told O'Connell that his own confession was sufficient to put him out of baseball. Landis also told O'Connell that Dolan's attitude was the reason for putting him out, despite Dolan's denials.

Manager McGraw and Secretary James Tierney of the Giants were only once casually mentioned by the involved players in their denial of O'Connell's story.

Oshkosh—Alvin (Cozy) Dolan, former coach of the New York Giants, whose name figured in the baseball scandal at the close of the 1924 season, is residing in this city at present and his wife having returned to Oshkosh, their former home, from New York shortly after the world series closed. Dolan has continued to maintain a sphinxlike silence on the subject of scandal, even among his most intimate friends, and refuses to make any comment for publication.

Will Fight Chicago's "Water Steal," Jan. 15

By Associated Press

Milwaukee—A meeting the express purpose of which is to protest the diversion of any water from the Great Lakes which would tend to impede or lessen commerce on the Great Lakes, has been called by William George Bruce, president of the Great Lakes Harbor association here, for the morning of Jan. 15, at Cleveland, O.

Representatives of lake cities and of the association will attend this meeting, Mr. Bruce announced.

Mr. Bruce said the meeting was a continuation of the fight against water diversion in excess of the allotment made by the war department to the Chicago drainage canal "even though the United States Supreme court has decided against the Chicago Sanitary district in an opinion upholding the temporary injunction restraining the canal commissioners from using more than the allotment."

"The fight has passed out of the hands of the court and now is in congress, where Chicago seeks legislation bringing redress. We do not mean to be inhuman or uncharitable toward Chicago in the matter of its drainage but we certainly do and will continue to protest the unwarranted use of lake waters to carry on Chicago's sanitation scheme and to strengthen her power interests along that canal, especially when such diversion of waters interferes as it does with lake commerce," Mr. Bruce said.

"Chicago must solve her sewage problems like any other large city but not at the expense of lake commerce or the rights of other states in that commerce."

The meeting at Cleveland will be a two day conference, Mr. Bruce will preside. Other officers present include Secretary Raymond H. Welns, Racine.

Kansas City Journal Reporters Witness Transaction in Hotel Room

EXECUTIVE ADMITS TRUTH

Young Man, Threatened With Arrest, Returns Sums Given for Clemency

By Associated Press

Topeka, Kas. — A bombshell was dropped into Kansas politics Saturday with the allegation that Russell G. Davis, 28-year-old son of Governor Jonathan M. Davis, Friday accepted $1,250 when he delivered a pardon to Fred W. Pollman, former bank president of Lacygne, Kans., a convicted forger.

The transaction took place in a hotel room here and was made public by the Kansas City Journal in a copyrighted story, which in conjunction with Pollman, had set a trap for the governor's son.

Governor Davis, whose term expires next Monday, admitted his son had been "involved into accepting the money" and asserted the affair was a "frameup by my political enemies to get me."

Governor Davis' explanation of the sensational scene in the hotel room did not agree with the story related by the Journal reporters present. There was a divergence as to the time of the delivery of the pardon.

The Journal's version was: "The Journal's version was: 'Young Davis accepted $1,000 from Pollman while two Journal representatives, a shorthand reporter and several other witnesses listened in from an adjoining room by the aid of a telephonic device hidden behind a curtain in Pollman's room.'

"Receiving the $1,000 payment, the governor's son left the hotel and returned with the pardon and then received $250. He was then confronted by the Journal reporters and the other witnesses."

"The governor's son, when threatened with arrest returned the $250 received on delivery of the pardon and left the hotel coming back later with the $1,000."

The Journal said he refused to say where he had left the $1,000 after departing from the hotel the first time, but added that young Davis asserted his father had no knowledge of the transaction.

Governor Davis said his son told him of the affair Friday night when he came home.

Declaring that he had aided Pollman at his trial and later had appealed to former Governor Henry Allen in Pollman's behalf when the conviction was seeking a parole, which he received, Governor Davis declared Pollman had abused his friendship in plotting to gain a pardon through young Davis and to "frame" the governor.

COMMITTEE PUTS ITS O. K. ON BILL FOR WORK ON RIVER

$400,000 Appropriation Is Recommended for Passage by Congress

Improvement of the Green Bay harbor and the Fox River at cost of more than $400,000 was authorized by the house rivers and harbors committee this week when it acted favorably on an amended bill, according to a dispatch from Washington.

The amended bill reduces four of the projects in the bill by $13,000,000, but leaves the improvement in the Fox River as a part of the bill to be recommended.

It is said that the bill will be read to congress next week.

The proposal calls for the deepening of the channel from Green Bay to De Pere to 18 ft and providing a turning basin at De Pere, large enough to accommodate 500-ft vessels.

The bill also will provide for a wider channel through the ledge section below the De Pere lock, channels 7-ft deep and 100-ft wide with the necessary widening at the bends through the ledge sections at Kaukauna, Combined Locks, Little Chute, Drunkard's Point, Appleton and Griggs Rapids, widening the Neenah channel to 100-ft and providing a concrete retaining wall at Kaukauna.

GIDEONS SPEAK TOMORROW IN TEN LOCAL CHURCHES

Travelers Organization Plans to Place 150 Bibles in Hotel Additions

Members of Wisconsin Gideons will speak at ten churches here Sunday as part of a state rally for the distribution of Bibles in rooms of the additions to local hotels. Their program opens with a supper with Appleton Ministerial association at 6:30 Saturday evening at the Y. M. C. A. Hotels here received their original supply of Bibles from this Christian traveling men's organization about three years ago when the Gideons held their state convention here. Enlargement of buildings has meant that 102 rooms need to be supplied and at least 150 will be sent here to replace Bibles lost and worn.

BIBLES COST $135

Churches will be told of the work of the Gideons and will be invited to support the Bible distribution here. The cost of the books is 90 cents each meaning that $135 will be spent in this city.

Sunday morning's speakers will be: Trinity English Lutheran church, J. H. Francis and E. C. Holmes, Milwaukee; German Methodist, E. C. Unbreit, Oakshosh; Baptist, C. A. Briggs, Baraboo; First Reformed, P. K. Schlafer, Milwaukee; First English Lutheran, A. G. Heinnelund, Milwaukee.

Evening speakers will be: First Methodist, G. A. Briggs; First Congregational, C. W. Brown, Milwaukee; Memorial Presbyterian, E. C. Unbreit; Emmanuel Evangelical, W. P. Umbreit, Oakshosh; St. John Evangelical, P. K. Schlafer.

SUPPER TONIGHT

Members of Appleton Ministerial association and friends of the Gideons will be guests at the supper at 6:30 Saturday evening at the Y. M. C. A. C. W. Brown, state president, will act as chairman, and talks will be given by the Rev. J. L. Menzner, president of the ministers, E. C. Unbreit and others.

Mr. Brown, L. A. Millar of Marshfield, state secretary, and J. H. Francis, treasurer, arrived here Saturday morning and others were expected during the day, including G. A. Briggs, chaplain, and P. K. Schlafer, Bible superintendent. Mr. Schlafer is a cousin of O. P. Schlafer of this city.

More than 600,000 Bibles have been distributed to hotel bedrooms by the Gideons to date. The files of the organization contain names of persons voluntarily sent by people who have been consoled by reading the Gideon Bibles, and by others who have been converted to a Christian life through the same influences.

RADIO PROGRAMS

Several Appleton amateurs attended the meeting of the A. R. R. L. at Racine Saturday. Amateurs from all central west states were present. Serious problems involved in amateur radio traffic work came before the meeting and plans were made for increasing the usefulness of amateur radio to the community.

A chance remark lead to the discovery that among the many men employed in making radio equipment are several with European titles, whose life work now is manufacturing the apparatus which brings so much entertainment and instruction into American homes. One radio corporation employs an Italian count, an Austrian duke and a Russian admiral along with trained American engineers and craftsmen. Your set may be built by a former monarch.

WOC's varied program should hit the mark Saturday night. A group of artists present a fine musical program at 9 o'clock and at 10. The Saturday evening special is a comedy which will keep all listeners in good humor over the weekend. The dramatic club of the Palmer school will present the one-act comedy, "The Rough Diamond." Another varied program goes on the air from WFAA.

At 8:30 the program opens with a musical recital by Dr. Richard Mandell, tenor, and a group of musicians from Denton, Tex. This is followed by popular dance music by the Adolphus Hotel orchestra. WFAA presents Frank Luk's String Ensemble, consisting of ten violins, a viola and a cello. This will make a hit with music lovers. This is followed by Vincent Lopez orchestra.

KOA presents Joe Mann and his Rainbow Lane orchestra from 8 to 11 o'clock. The Selinsky quintet from WLW is a feature program for music lovers. Several other stations have their usual Saturday night musical programs, which always are good, including the Westinghouse band from KDKA and programs from CNRO, WGT, KGO, WSAI, WRBO, and the Chicago stations. # MEANEST BURGLAR ROBS SCHOOL BANK

The meanest man joke about the breaking of a boy's bank was repeated Wednesday night in a somewhat modified manner, but without actual loss to the savers.

Schools savings deposits of $5 and an automatic teller containing a quantity of savings stamps were stolen from Washington school. It is estimated that the loot amounted to more than $100. The loss was covered by insurance and the youthful savers will receive full credit for the money they deposited.

No clue was left behind by the burglar that might lead to his identity, but it is inferred by police that the guilty person was either a pupil or someone else who had knowledge of the money.

TRANSPORTATION TRUCK IS WRECKED BY TRAIN

A large truck owned by the Northern Transportation company was badly damaged and a heavy trailer completely demolished when struck by a Northwestern northbound passenger train about 10 o'clock Friday morning. The truck was enroute from Milwaukee to Green Bay, loaded with freight.

SUNSET PLAYERS PLEASE AUDIENCE

Played by the Lawrence college Sunset Players before an audience of about 500, "You and I" captivated the Appleton people Friday night as it had before entranced the audiences of New York and Chicago. The play was produced in Lawrence Memorial chapel.

The drama portrayed the conflict of business and are in the life of a middle age man, and of the sacrifice of his art that his son might not have the same tragedy. Walter Haas, playing the part of Maitland White, had the sympathy of the listeners all through the play. Bessie Clausen, playing the part of the wife, interpreted her role well.

In presenting plays of the class of "You and I," the Sunset Players are going much to encourage contemporary drama appreciation. Philip Barry's play is undoubtedly one of the best in its class during the last few years.

500 ATTEND LAST CLASS OF HEATING INSTITUTE

Nearly 500 persons attended the course in home heating held Thursday and Friday at Appleton Vocational school under the direction of Prof. Ben B. Elliot and Prof. W. A. To be presently outstanding $1,750,000
$1000-$500 Denominations
DETROIT TRUST COMPANY, DETROIT, MICHIGAN, TRUSTEE

Colonel William M. Hatch, President of Peerless Portland Cement Company, has summarized his letter to us as follows:

BUSINESS AND HISTORY: Peerless Portland Cement Company, established in 1897, owns at Union City, Michigan, a completely equipped Portland cement manufacturing plant having an annual productive capacity of over 500,000 barrels and is among the oldest and best known of the cement manufacturing companies in the Great Lakes region.

SECURITY: In the opinion of counsel, these bonds will be secured by a direct first mortgage on all the physical assets of the Company, including finished cement plants having an annual productive capacity of 2,000,000 barrels and valued in excess of $4,786,000, or more than $2,734 per $1,000 bond. The bonds to be presently outstanding will be in the ratio of 87½¢ per barrel of annual productive capacity. In addition to this, the Company will have approximately $750,000 of net current assets as an additional protection for these bonds.

EARNINGS: The present management purchased control of the Company in 1920 and in the succeeding two years doubled the production of the Union City plant. Messrs. Lawrence Souder & Company, certified public accountants, have certified that for the two years ending October 31, 1924, the Company produced an annual average of over 530,000 barrels of finished cement at an average profit, available for depreciation, interest charges and taxes, of $184,523.08, or an average profit before charges of over $4½¢ per barrel. The Company's earnings similarly computed on the combined capacity of the Union City and the new Detroit Plant, approximately 2,000,000 barrels would be approximately $690,000.

CEMENT INDUSTRY: The Portland cement industry has shown a phenomenal growth in the last 30 years, the consumption in the United States having increased from 3,500,000 barrels in 1900 to an estimated consumption in 1924 of over 150,000,000 barrels valued at almost $300,000,000.

MANAGEMENT: The same operating management and staff which has directed the Company for the past 20 years, will continue in charge of the business.

GOVERNMENT AND BUSINESS

In business methods we are generations ahead of our ability to govern ourselves. So it has frequently been stated, and in a good many ways it is true. The public admits as much when it longs for more businesslike administration of government. Business wants results. It has no use for precedent. Nor is it inclined to cling to the traditional just because it is ancient, except for advertising purposes—as when it gets profitable publicity from an old establishment. Business discards the old as soon as it is convinced that the new will give better results. Government hesitates.

Take the matter of delivering goods. For thousands of years this was done by using the horse. In less than one generation, business has largely discarded the horse and replaced it by the motor truck. The fact that George Washington used horses on his rich plantations does not make much of an impression on the modern business head who wants quick delivery and low cost.

There is a reason for everything. The reason we are not as progressive in politics or government as we are in the production and distribution of commodities is not hard to figure out. Before a purchasing agent or production engineer will discard the old and install the new, the superiority of the new has to be demonstrated convincingly to him—in actuality, not just in oratory or theory. In this sense, there is nothing more conservative than a so-called progressive business man. Then suppose a business man makes a mistake. Overnight he can discard the mistake and go back to using the old.

You cannot do that in a governmental system that is not flexible—where discarding is almost as slow as acquiring. Government is shaped with an eye to lastingness, to many generations yet unborn. Business, despite its future plans, exists more for today. But we might, at least, adopt in politics the mental attitude of open-mindedness that has put out business results generations ahead of government results. As a safeguard against calamitous changes, it is a good thing that our present functions of local government are not centralized and directed in union from national headquarters. An individual community can try out a new theory while the thousands of other communities sit back and watch. This mistake is local, not national.

ART BY RADIO

More than 8,000,000 persons, it is estimated, heard John McCormack and Lucezia Bori give a radio concert New Year's night. For the first time supreme musical entertainment was thus offered to radio hearers, and from artistic and commercial standpoints the concert rendered by these two great artists was an event of importance. In the New York establishment of the American Telephone & Telegraph company, whence the concert was broadcast, the innovation was treated as something remarkable. Many officers of the company were present in the station and there were many distinguished visitors.

Radio entertainment has been improving rapidly. The McCormack-Bori concert indicates a purpose to make it still better, even, in a sense, an institution. The time will come, of course, when a plan for charging radio-listeners will be worked out. For the present, providing the highest type of entertainment is a charge against sales promotion and advertising. Does it pay the radio manufacturers to engage well-known artists and features at high cost? So far it no doubt does. Does it pay the phonograph company to let McCormack and Bori, singers whom it has under exclusive contract, sing on the radio? Does it pay McCormack, who as a concert star, makes thousands of dollars every time he sings in a theatre or auditorium, to sign for millions? Undoubtedly it does.

If you have observed McCormack's audiences in recent years, especially given in large halls, you have been impressed by the large number of phonograph-users in the balconies. His phonograph records have increased his popularity, as his concerts have increased the sale of his records. In all probability, the radio concerts will work out profitably.

It is an event of real significance, however, for two of the greatest singers to sing on the radio, and to an audience of some 8,000,000 persons. As a result, all features will be improved, and it should not be long before the public will pay attention to none but programs of special value.

What to broadcast, how much to pay for numbers, how to obtain the money to make up good programs, are questions that experience will work out. Concerts by great artists will have a decided effect on solving the whole problems.

MOTOR SALES AND CONGESTION

In the United States 15,520,633 pleasure or passenger automobiles are in use. That is one to every seven and one-half persons, on a basis of 114,000,000 population. The increase in the number of cars in 1924 was 2,065,590, or 15.35 per cent. It will not be long until there is a car in every family.

Future sales of automobiles will depend largely on the regulation of traffic, both as to movement of vehicles and safety of passengers and pedestrians. In other words, congestion will have a vital effect on manufacture and sales. Automobile makers are among the most interested in traffic control.

The market has been surfeited with used cars for many months. So far it is difficult to tell whether the sale of rebuilt cars will have much effect on the sale of new automobiles. Apparently, the rebuilt car will not minimize the demand for new cars as long as prices are low. But the trouble encountered in disposing of used cars to the public signifies that the inclination to scrap cars and buy new ones will not be so strong. First-hand cars will probably command a lower exchange value, and they will be retained longer by purchasers.

Automobile manufacturers have been displaying excellent judgment in adjusting prices to changing conditions. Therefore they have been steadily stabilizing the industry.

HAM AND.
An appetite's really a right funny thing, it affects everybody the same. For various dishes a longing 'twill bring; then it will likely go lame.
You're wishing for this and you're wishing for that 'cause your palate just tells you to do it. You order queer dishes just based on your wishes and then you will gladly go to it.
A man will eat pork chops for many a day 'cause his pork choppy appetite's fired. And then all desire for them passes away when of pork chops he finally gets tired.
It seems fit this way with the food that's in range on the restaurant menus each noon. You eat of one thing; then you suddenly change as the one thing seems way out of tune.
There's just one exception that comes to my mind and it's ham, for in every day rations, the ham on the menus, you always will find, carries with it such good combinations.

137 OFF.
At last I have found a woman with a backbone. I know her story will make a lot of spineless creatures just wilt with envy:
Dear Doctor:
Your instructive column—
(But never mind my column now. We're interested at present in your spinal column.)
Feb. 1, 1924, I discovered I had diabetes and insulin was my first thought. I weighed 367 pounds, 35 years old, 70 inches tall. So I consulted a physician and he said I did not need insulin, but that if I would reduce 100 pounds I could live to be 70 years old.
I decided to write to you personally. I have always found so many helpful things in your column. (Tut, tut.)
I carefully followed the diet and have been walking from 5 to 10 miles a day, and I am pleased to report that I now weigh 230 pounds.
Last February my blood sugar was .213; now it is .08.
I am feeling fine and continuing my walks. I sleep well and in fact find but one complaint a hearty appetite.
My mother died of diabetes when she was younger than I am, and my father's mother died of it.
Since my reduction I find functional difficulties corrected.
But the doctor says I must reduce another 30 pounds, and I hope you can give me some new ideas which will help the reduction along. I need not tell you that I am grateful.
Yours very truly,
Mrs. —

There, now, that is about 38 per cent of the original weight off, and in 10 months.
Just to show how easy it is to doctor a testimonial for publication without actually changing a word, I will now confess that I had nothing whatever to do with this correspondent's reduction, so far as I know. The diet she followed was probably one which her physician prescribed for her. But her spine is worth exhibiting here, whoever may be responsible for the success she has had.
Now that she says she has reduced, certainly she was navigating with a great overload of sugar in her blood. The normal blood sugar is from .007 to 0.11 per cent, and the concentration in diabetes ranges from 0.12 up to 0.40 per cent. In a normal individual a concentration above 0.12 per cent of sugar in the blood usually means that the kidneys will begin to excrete some sugar—a condition by no means uncommon after indulgence in a large amount of carbohydrate food. If the sugar (glucose) is constantly eliminated through the kidneys, the condition is not diabetes.
Of course it is a well recognized fact that diabetes is caused by overeating. Fat folk are headed toward diabetes and a fat person who is diabetic can scarcely improve much until he reduces weight.
Exercise is second only to diet as a cure for diabetes. Exercise not only enables the body to oxidize or burn up some of the overload of sugar in the blood, but it increases the general metabolism and enables the diabetic individual to utilize more carbohydrate, which is precisely what insulin does in diabetes.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
No Confidence.
I have always heard that confidence in the doctor is half the battle. Well, I have placed great confidence in your teachings, and acting on impulses I adopted the diet you suggest for people who wish to reduce. The regimen has certainly proved effective in my case. After adhering faithfully to it for three days I find I am completely cured. I no longer wish to reduce. (Mrs. B. W. H.)
Answer.—There must have been some mistake. That diet you tried is for the reduction of blood sugar, which so many dumb-bells have nowadays. I am glad to know that it proved so successful in your case.

Citizens are talking about a plan of making a soldiers park of the site south of the Cherry-st bridge. They would put up a big arch there and call it the entrance to the city. Now, isn't it a fact that we already have not only a notable entrance but also a notable exit? You enter by Appleton Junction and leave by the cemetery.

There is something strongly suggestive about the route that begins at the depot and ends at the cemetery. What's more they have street cars to take you there. As a striking sign of welcome at the entrance, now would this do: "Ye who enter here leave all hope behind."

PUPILS FOR MR. RASEY
Editor, Post-Crescent—During the past week there has been much discussion concerning the election of Mr. Rasey to succeed Mr. Rasey as superintendent of Appleton schools. This has been discussed by board and general public as well. Nothing has been said up to this time by those most directly affected by this action: the students of Appleton.
I feel sure that the consensus of opinion among the high school students is to the effect that a great injustice was done to Mr. Rasey. The students firmly believe that the entire matter was one of politics. Politics in which the participants are not concerned with right or wrong but merely with personal prejudice. They feel, furthermore, that Mr. Rasey's accomplishments are far too great to be even touched by trifling prejudices or political policies.
The students know and appreciate through daily contact, the value of Mr. Rasey's service, and it is with great remorse that they think of his departure.
They feel that no other man will ever be able to fill the place of him, who was always a capable teacher, a wise counsellor, and a sincere friend.
The student body is truly sorry that Mr. Rasey is going to leave, and although another may take his place as administrator, never shall any others take the place of the fine ideals which he has given to the school.
Sincerely,
Ethel Blake,
A High School Senior,

Smoke Causes Fogs At Times
(From Industrial Gas.)
Health commissions in various cities are now engaged in telling the people about the ill effects of a dust-laden atmosphere. It was known recently in Washington that during the winter months, when coal is being burned by householders, the average number of dust particles that can be seen under a microscope is about 330 per cubic centimeter of space, which is more than twice as many as are present in the air in summer.
This question of smoke abatement is not a new one by any means, for as long as 1864 in a suit at law in St. Louis the court declared smoke in the particular case in question, to be a nuisance and adjusted damages. The smoke dangers to which cities are subjected vary widely, of course, with the number and size of the various industries in each city—for the industries are the common sources of smoke.
The total abolition of smoke from our cities and towns will be demanded in due course of time. We should endeavor to hurry the day because of the benefit to health and the property savings that would result. Freeing the atmosphere of smoke would not reduce the occasions on which mist and fog occur, but if such action were taken many of the fogs growls like, "and they are only slightly less cheerful than the rest."

TURNING FACT INTO FICTION
Oliver Goldsmith's play, "She stoops to Conquer," is still occasionally seen in the theatres, and in the histories of English literature it is looked upon as a milestone in the progress of the English drama, not so much for its actual superiority as because of the fact that it was one of the turning points in English drama. Many an other play just as good or better is not considered nearly as important because it was not a trail-blazer like Goldsmith's play but followed where he had led.
"She stoops to Conquer" is important in English literature because it sounded the death-knell to the "weepee comedy," the highly sentimentalized comedy of the middle eighteenth century. It set the pace for the newer type of drama that was written in the natural dialog of real people and that is the reason why it is so tremendously important in literary history. Had Goldsmith not come along and turned the faces of the dramatic writers of his age back to sanity, there is no telling to what absurd lengths the "weepee" dramatists high have gone.

THEREBY HANGS A TALE
The genius of "She stoops to Conquer" is interesting. The subtitle of the play is "The Mistakes of a Night," and thereby hangs a tale. The play is almost literally what the blurb writers of today call "a transcript from life." What happens to the hero of the drama happened many years before to Goldsmith himself. In the play it was of course worked up and surrounded with the dramatic trappings that were necessary to make it effective for stage presentation. But the main incident, the one around which everything else centers, was taken bodily from Goldsmith's own adventures.
The young Goldsmith was studying medicine in Edinburgh many years before he had any idea that he would ever become a writer. He was a spendthrift and a good deal of a dandy and he loved to pass for a gentleman. His uncle, who was paying his expenses, sent him a guinea for his expenses on his way home after the school term ended and young Goldsmith decided to travel in style. He got himself a servant after the manner of the young dandies of the day and started on his way. Arriving at a town at night he asked a citizen for "the best house in town," meaning the best inn. The citizen, who was something of a wag, took in the situation at a glance and saw that the young fellow was out to play the lord on slender means. So he directed him to what was in reality the best house in town but it was the house of a private citizen and not a public house.

A FOOL THERE WAS
Young Goldsmith entered and started to order everybody around in the true fashion of an experienced man of the world. The worthy citizen had meanwhile been tipped off and he entered into the spirit of the joke. He did not undecieve the youthful traveler but played the part of innkeeper and his daughters played the roles of barmaids. They had worlds of fun at young Goldsmith's expense and not until the next morning did he discover that he had been making a fool of himself.
At the time it was a bitter pill for young Goldsmith to swallow and he probably would have been grateful if the earth had opened and had hidden his shame. But as is so often the case, the mistakes and troubles of one period of life become fruitful and the sources of blessings at another.
Many years later, after he had already become famous with other works, Goldsmith decided to strike a blow at the "weepee comedy" that nauseated all sensible people, and he found in the experience of his student days a splendid theme. So he dramatized that experience, added a love story and it went forth into the world as one of the great comedies of English literature.

It is still good sport today to see it on the stage if played by competent actors, and those who haven't the opportunity to see it played can still get plenty of entertainment out of reading it. While it is not superlatively great literature, it is historically interesting.

HIGH SCHOOL FIVE WINS SECOND GAME IN 1925 SCHEDULE

INSTALL OFFICERS OF EASTERN STAR

Defeat East DePere 17 to 10 in Listless Game in School Auditorium

Kaukauna.—East De Pere high school basketball team was defeated 17 to 10 by the Kaukauna quint in a rather listless game Friday evening in the high school auditorium before a moderate crowd. Neither team showed much class and the ball was on the floor most of the time. There was very little team work.

Occasionally the Orange and Black showed a burst of speed that made the invaders look ragged, but the spurs were short and not very effective. After several minutes of bounding and jumping after the ball, Kaukauna scored its first point on a free throw. Later the boys added DePere with the same method while DePere caged one field goal.

All through the first half and for part of the second the outcome of the game was doubtful especially after the visitors resorted to long shots which came dangerously near the ring.

With but a few minutes to play the Kaukauna team recovered some of the ability it showed in its opening game and the boys scored four or five field goals in rapid succession, outdistancing the DePere boys.

PUPILS HELP H. S. COMPILE HISTORY

Data Concerning Early Graduates Begins Reaching Classmate Staff

Special to Post-Crescent

New London.—Supt. R. J. McMahon complimented the high school during the assembly period Friday morning, for its almost 100 per cent subscription to the new high school weekly paper, Monday Morning News. All of the juniors have subscribed, 55 out of the 57 seniors, 73 of the 84 freshmen, and 53 out of 63 sophomores. This leaves only 23 students in the whole school who have not as yet subscribed.

Supt. McMahon was also pleased with the way in which the students obtained information regarding the early history of the local high school, and its early graduating classes, which is wanted for the 1925 "Classmate." Mildred Lyon, a junior, especially helped in this work by obtaining old commencement programs from the years in which the school started up until 1886. Polders for 1887 and 1894 are wanted now, as the information will be complete when these two are obtained. Up to 1885 the high school only used a three year course. This system was changed in that year, so there was no graduating class, for the course was changed to four years, and the graduates of 1885 waited until 1889 to graduate in order that they might put in one more year of school.

When all of the material wanted has been collected the names of all members of graduating classes will be posted on the bulletin board in the main assembly. Students will then be asked to give all the information possible concerning the location and location of these old graduates, in order that the alumni section of the "Classmate" may be completed.

NEENAH QUINTET TILTS HOME LID WITH 20-13 WIN

Two Rivers Puts Up Stubborn Resistance but is Weak at Basket Shooting

Neenah—Two Rivers high school basketball team met its first defeat Friday evening, losing to Neenah by a score of 20 to 13. It was the first home game of the locals and was played in the new Roosevelt gymnasium. While the game was fast at times, it was loosely played on the part of Neenah.

The game started with Schneller, Koerwitz, Parker, Keating and Newlan Jones in the lineup. They held their strong opponents to 10 to 8 in the first half. Soon after the start of the second half, Brendedick replaced Schneller at center and Ehrigott stepped into Jones's place. Brendedick, who is suffering with a bad arm caused by recent vaccination, later was taken out and Schneller put back. The Two Rivers team was a snappy bunch, doing neat work at passing but did not have an eye for the basket, missing several good chances.

The new gymnasium was packed to the doors. Preceding the regular game, the Sophomores and Freshmen played a classy battle, the Sophomores winning 32 to 8.

Housekeepers Should Save Their Strength.

There are two ways in which the time and strength of the housekeeper may be saved: First, by taking thought as to the way she uses her strength, and second, by making use of labor-saving devices.

A little study and practical direction along this line may easily make the difference between a tired, over-worked housekeeper, and one who has some time and energy left for reading and recreation after the day's work is done.

The Department of Agriculture has issued a splendid illustrated booklet on home conveniences which tells how to make a kitchen cabinet, a fireless cooker, a drain-er that does away with the drying of dishes, a serving tray, an iceless refrigerator, a cold box for food, a folding ironing board and other labor and time saving devices.

Our Washington Information will secure a copy of this helpful publication for any reader who fills out and mails the coupon below. Enclose two cents in stamps for return postage, and be sure that your name and address is written clearly on the lines of the coupon.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

REO ANNIVERSARY SEDAN WILL SELL AT OPEN CAR COST

Four-door, Five-passenger Model Will Sell at Same Price as Present Make

To meet an insistent and growing demand for a full-sized closed car embodying all essential features that have popularized this type of automobile, yet so designed and produced that it may be sold at the price of an open model, the Reo Motor Car Company has evolved and announced its "Twentieth Anniversary Sedan" at $1395.

In spite of the fact that the "Twentieth Anniversary Sedan" is a four-door, five passenger model of generous proportions, substantially built as to body and featuring the T-6 chassis, standard on all Reo passenger cars, the selling price checks exactly with that of the T-6 Special Touring, the most popular open car in the Reo line at the present time.

The introduction of this model is in reality, Reo's manner of celebrating its twentieth anniversary. With out deciding to give something very much out of the ordinary as an expression of appreciation for the confidence and prestige enjoyed throughout a score of years, the Reo Motor Car company could never have offered a Reo-built closed car at such a price.

For several years Reo officials have been aware of the leaning toward closed cars which has become more and more pronounced with each succeeding season. They have watched with interest the various types of enclosures designed to meet the demand for closed car convenience at no greater costs than those of open cars. Then, when the Reo company had completed twenty years of successful motor car manufacturing, its executive resolved to set a new standard, to do another job of pioneering, by producing a full-sized sedan, with four doors and ample room for five adult passengers to sell at the price of an open model.

Reo has only one chassis for passenger cars, and because of this, the "Twentieth Anniversary Sedan" is like every other Reo mechanically, dependable, economical in operation, high-powered, and capable of giving a number of years' continuous and satisfactory service.

It has exclusive Reo sub-frame construction, which has the doubly advantageous effect of lowering the center of gravity of the car and giving an almost perfectly horizontal line of drive between the engine and the rear axle. The T-6 engine with intake valves in head and exhaust valves in the cylinder block is small and clean built, and at the same time powerful. It develops 50 horsepower at 2000 revolutions per minute on block test. Genuine balloon tires on disc wheels are standard on this car as on all other Reo passenger models.

Reo methods of manufacture permit nothing skimp and nothing half built to go into bearing the Reo name. This alone is assurance that the "Twentieth Anniversary Sedan" is sturdily built for a long life of service. The frame of the body is constructed of the best kindred and seasoned ash and maple that can be procured. Joints are carefully fashioned and all of them are glued and bolted. Steel and iron braces are used to reinforce joints at the points of greatest stress. The body is covered with Steel panels.

FORD DONATES NEW FIELD FOR PLANES

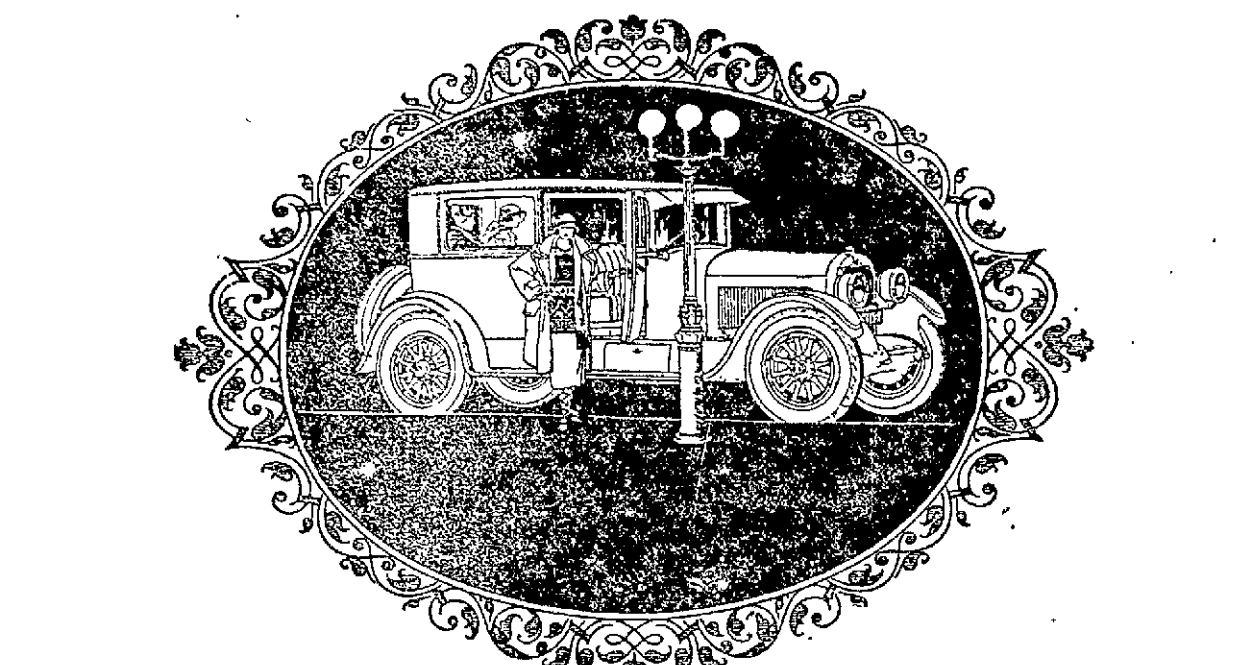

Landing Grounds at Dearborn, Mich. Will Be Known as "Ford Airport"

A new airplane landing field, the donation of Henry and Edsel Ford, which was recently completed at Dearborn, Mich., will be known as "Ford Airport," according to announcement just made. The donation is purely in the interest of commercial aviation, for it is understood there is no intention on the part of the Ford Motor Company to go into the airplane business, other than to watch its development.

All pilots will be welcome at the field and it is large enough to take care of the largest types of ships. It also is expected that the field will be the terminal for airplane companies now being formed to operate between Detroit and other large cities. Gasoline, oil and before long a stock of parts, will be available for visiting fliers.

The field has two 300-foot runways, one 3750 feet and the other 3400 feet long, both in the direction of prevailing wind. More than twenty miles of training tile was laid for quick drainage in wet weather in order that the field might be suitable for year-round operation.

In the center of the field the name "Ford" appears in letters 200 feet high, made of white crushed stone. This is visible from an altitude of 10,000 feet. When conditions warrant arrangements will be made for illumination of the field at night. There is a ample hangar and in the same building airplane manufacturing operations are being carried on by the Ford Metal Airplane Company and the Aircraft Development Company.

CADILLAC-COACH

A New V-63 Closed Model at the Same Price as the Touring Car

TWENTY-YEAR REO EMPLOYEES HONORED

Number of Men Have Been With Old Firm More Than Two Decades

For a number of years the Reo Motor Car Company has followed the practice of honoring those employees of the company completing five and ten year periods of continuous employment. This year, while these two classes of steady workmen will continue to be rewarded, two new classes will be established when Reo honors the workers who have been with the company steadily for twenty years and for fifteen years.

It is of more than passing interest that this veteran automobile manufacturing company, which has just celebrated its own twentieth anniversary, should have a group of employees who have been with the company steadily, almost since its organization.

This year there are ten men representing executive and production departments, who have been with the company twenty years. Eighty-seven men are completing their fifteenth year with Reo, while one hundred and six have been on the pay roll continuously for ten years. The class completing five years' service includes more than four hundred names.

Twenty-year men are to receive a newly designed emblem with the "twenty" in Roman numerals of white gold set in a field together with a carefully selected diamond. For the fifteen-year employees, there is an emblem in which the number of years of service is designated by Roman numerals in green gold. This badge is jeweled with a ruby.

Coming soon after the announcement of Reo's extremely low labor turnover for 1924, the establishment of these two new classes of honored employees is especially interesting. Reo is known to have the lowest turning industry, and it is quite probable that its figures would compare favorably with the best from any industry where large numbers of people are employed.

Reo prides itself on the faithfulness of its employees, and its officials believe that no small part of the quality in Reo cars is due to the fact that the men in the shops are not continuously changing.

CHEVROLET SHOW ROUSES INTEREST

More interest was aroused by the display of the new Chevrolet line at the New York Automobile Show than has been accorded any new car introduced for more than a decade, according to veteran automobile men who have been present at the great majority, if not all, of the 25 national automotive exhibits held in the eastern metropolis.

Opinions of both experts and the general public followed the same trend—first of admiration and then of the puzzled question, "How can the Chevrolet company do it at the price." The exhibit was visited by practically every automobile representative present Friday and Saturday, the two days reserved for the trade, and it proved the mecca for the general public through the eight days following.

The general beauty of the line was most commented upon. The new semi-elliptic springs and longer frame with the new lines and roomier bodies in existing grades. The Duo-Flash in colors for all models was another feature favorably commented upon. In fact the general remarks of show visitors clearly showed that the plain black enameled automobile will not find much favor with the car purchaser of 1925.

Chevrolet factories are working day and night to full capacity to supply the demand for the new cars. If the reception tendered the first showing of the line is a criterion, these Superior models will smash the high records previously made.

PREVENTION OF BRUISES CHIEF AIM OF STRIPS

Year 1925 Will Be Best in History for Rubber Industry, Forecast

Breaker strips are put into tires for just three reasons, the first and most important of which is to stop bruising. Bruises are stopped by the breaker strips because more of the shock is brought into action. The breaker strip is put in on the bias, so that its threads come into play in case of shock or bruise, and distribute the blow over a larger area. The breaker strip naturally has to be powerful to resist such abuse.

Secondly, the breaker is to resist the shearing action which takes place between the tread and carcass. When the tire flexes in contact with the road. This stress takes place at the shoulder of the tire and represents the sum total of the efforts of the tread and carcass, to separate. These efforts are multiplied each time any part of the tread comes into contact with the road, causing that part of the tire to flex.

The third purpose of the breaker strip is to stop cuts. It is rather difficult for some to understand why this is the case but it must be remembered that the plies of the tire are under great tension when the tire is inflated, whereas the breaker strip is comparatively slack; consequently this highly elastic cushion will cause a sharp point to rebound somewhat. Miller tire experts point out that this prevents the object from going as deeply as it otherwise would. It thereby affords protection to the carcass.

There is every reason to believe that the year 1925 will be one of the best in history for the rubber industry. With a total registration of approximately 17,000,000 cars in the United States, there is a tremendous replacement market; and when it is remembered that about 8,000,000 new cars have gone out within the last two years, most of which are just about due for their first replacement tires, it can be seen that prospects are bright.

ROLLIN MOTOR AND CHASSIS UNCHANGED

"The Rollin motor and chassis, the feature of the 1924 New York Auto Show, because of its great advancement, has remained practically unchanged. A year of extensive world-wide use has proven every detail of this car.

"It was on account of the perfection and tremendous advancement of this motor and chassis that Rollin White and his associate engineers had the time and opportunity to bend their talents towards improving the coach work of the Rollin.

"The Rollin motor was produced by the coordination of the latest scientific discoveries, including the mechanical refinements of famous American and European motors.

"A four-bearing crankshaft and particular care in manufacturing, have rendered this motor practically vibrationless. A perfected system of forced lubrication, adapted from aeroplanes, engine principles, assures a non-falling film of oil over all rotating surfaces, practically eliminating wear and giving the car remarkable stamina.

"Carburetor and manifold improvements, ingeniously simple yet effective, together with the high general efficiency of the motor, are responsible for the remarkable economy—From 25 to 30 miles per gallon of gas—oline.

CLEVELAND SIX SMASHES RECORD FOR 1,000 MILES

Clips Two Hours, Thirty-nine Minutes from Former Mark

"In an exhibition of motor car stamina, speed and endurance, never before approached in the annals of motor car history, a strictly stock Cleveland Six Touring car smashed all existing records by travelling 1000 miles without stopping the motor, in the elapsed time of 848 minutes, 31 4/5 seconds," says Rossmessell-Wagner local Cleveland Six distributors.

"By this almost incredible feat, 2 hours and 39 minutes were clipped from the former record which up until now was held by a widely advertised, six cylinder car.

"This Cleveland Six 1000 mile speed and durability record was achieved on the speedway at Culver City, California. The driver of the car was Ralph Mulford, famous racing ace.

"At midnight on the 15th of December, the Cleveland Six flashed away on its gruelling grind for the most coveted record of the day. For over 14 hours an average speed exceeding 70 miles an hour was sustained. Some 300 miles were run in a driving rain and no stops were made except for oil and gasoline.

"By half past eight that night a thousand miles had been made and the Cleveland Six had traveled a distance exactly that between New York and Jacksonville, Florida—at twice the speed of the famous mail train between those two points. Official time scoring and oil and gasoline replenishments were supervised by the A. A. A. Official Contest Board.

BUICK IS MARK OF COMPARISON

Coaches Provide Leg Room With Inside Length of 85 Inches

Why Buick Leaks And Is The Standard of Comparison

The Buick chassis is designed on correct principles of construction, constantly developed over a period of twenty years by the same engineers. All working parts in the Buick chassis are sealed against dust, dirt, and the loss of lubricant.

More than twenty years' service has demonstrated the Buick Valve-in-Head engine to be superior in power, speed, and economy.

Every working part of the Buick engine is automatically lubricated. The Buick multiple disc clutch is positive and disengages with very slight pressure. It is simply adjusted without removing a single part. The Buick rear shift is so simple that a child can operate it.

Only one universal joint is needed on the Buick and this is automatically lubricated. The Buick rear axle and torque tube drive relieve the rear springs of all driving strains.

Buick cantilever rear springs eliminate sidesway and are exceptionally easy riding.

RAISE BRAUTIGAN TO CAPTAINCY IN FIRE DEPARTMENT

Police and Fire Board Grapples With Problem of Policeman at Depot

Promotion of George Brautigan to a captaincy in the Appleton fire department by Chief G. P. McGillan was confirmed by the police and fire commission at a meeting in the city hall Wednesday evening. Captain Brautigan succeeded Captain Joseph Drexler, Sr., who resigned from the department on Jan. 1. Paul Newman fills the vacancy created by the resignation. Appointment of six other non-firemen who went on duty Jan. 1 also was confirmed.

The commission devoted considerable time to a discussion of a problem demanding the presence of a uniformed policeman at the Chicago and Northwestern station. Requests have been made to the commission that a man in uniform instead of a plain clothes man do patrol duty there. Strangers arriving on trains frequently seek information from a policeman, but they are at a loss to know whom to apply to when a plain clothes man is on duty there, it was pointed out. The commission will endeavor to find some way of solving the problem.

There is nothing today that plays so much a part in the daily activities of mankind as the automobile.

Now is the time to consider the purchase of an automobile for spring and summer use. Listed in the Used Car columns of The PostCrescent at this time are many excellent bargains — and it is possible now to purchase at lower prices than in the spring. # APPLETON HIGH QUINT NOSES OUT OSHKOSH 22 TO 20

Orange Forges Ahead Of Invaders In Late Rally As Fraser Stars

Pfeifferle and Frazer Lead Scoring in Final Quarter After Courtney Injures Ankle

After Coach Guy Barlow's second stringers had lost to the Oshkosh team, 17 to 16, in a fast and furious opening game in Armory G Friday night, the Orange regulars staged a last minute rally to conquer the Oshkosh first team, 22 to 20. Elmer, captain and running guard for Oshkosh, was the mainstay of his quintet, but his much touted shooting eye was off and out of more than twelve shots, most of them from beyond the middle of the floor. He caged but two and missed two freethrows. Fraser, right forward, who last week saved the game for Appleton of Sheboygan, pulled the same stunt here with but five minutes to go. Oshkosh was in the lead, 20 to 15. Fraser missed his first freethrow after he was fouled by Elmer, but caged the second and then twice within half a minute sent the ball through the net, hardly touching the ring. Pfeifferle made the winning goal.

Appleton was leading at halftime, 12 to 11, but in the next quarter the invaders took a lead of two baskets. To make it still harder for the Orange five, Courtney wrenched his ankle when he was thrown while following up under the basket, and with fifteen seconds to go in the third quarter, time was taken out to bandage it. After a rest of fifteen minutes, the game was resumed. Courtney staying with it, but no more scoring was done during the period. Right after the final quarter started Krohn dropped a pretty shot through the basket, but Pfeifferle and Fraser between them overtook the Oshkosh score and gave Appleton the game.

FIRST QUARTER
 Krohn scored a fieldgoal from under the basket in the first five seconds of play, but Fraser got a close shot a moment later and tied the score. Ashman's fieldgoal a few minutes later put Appleton in the lead. Ashman missed his first freethrow on Postman's foul, but made the second, and Knepp made a pretty running shot from under the board. Krohn dropped another through the net a second later, and Ashman, fouled again by Postman, made one of his two freethrows. Fraser followed with another on Hansen's foul. Weisbrod made a freethrow on Ashman's foul, and Courtney missed both after Krohn fouled him.

SECOND QUARTER
 Courtney was called for a personal after five minutes of fast work had failed to bring another score, and Postman made both his shots. A few moments later, Elmer, who had tried a number of extremely long shots without success, finally dropped one through, tying the score, 8 to 8. Bowlby, fouled by Krohn, added a point, but missed after Hansen's foul. Ashman followed up a long shot and dropped the ball through the ring on his second attempt. Krohn's basket a minute before the quarter ended made the score Appleton 12, Oshkosh 11.

THIRD QUARTER
 Krohn again started the running in the third period with a long shot from the side of the court, and then made two perfect freethrows on Pfeifferle's foul, putting his team in the lead, 15 to 12. Ashman and Bowlby were called for fouling Elmer, who missed both freethrows, but Postman caged one out of two open shots allowed him when Pfeifferle fouled him. Pfeifferle and Bowlby then shot wide of the hoop on three freethrows. Fraser, standing near the middle of the floor caged his shot, and then missed two freethrows. With but a few seconds to go, Courtney, following up under an Oshkosh shot, wrenched his ankle and was unable to rise. Time out was taken to tape it, and Courtney went back in. Neither team scored during the rest of the period.

FOURTH QUARTER
 Starting the final period with Oshkosh leading, 18 to 14, Krohn's basket gave the invaders a further lead at the start, but immediately after making the shot Krohn was taken out on his fourth personal foul, which gave Pfeifferle another opportunity to add a point to the Orange score. Fraser made another on Elmer's foul, and then, with but five minutes to go, caged two long shots to tie the score. Elmer, almost frantic, attempted shots from all over the floor, but all of them went wild. Postman fouled Ashman with the throw, but Pfeifferle, taking a long chance, sent the ball through the ring for the winning basket just before the final gun.

The second team staged a game almost as fast, but not as well played as their seniors. Oshkosh took an imposing lead in the first quarter when Hadrick, Hanke and Seymour piled up 8 points on three fieldgoals and two freethrows. Appleton started scoring in the second period, but the invaders kept their lead. In the third quarter Lutz made three pretty baskets, and in the fourth Packard also caged three long ones, while Hadrick was dropping a fieldgoal and a freethrow through the hoop for Oshkosh. Appleton was going strong when the gun ended the game, 17 to 16, with Oshkosh on top.

Landis Airs Stories Of Ball Scandal

Chicago—Confessions of Cozy Dolan and Jimmy O'Connell, formerly of the New York Giants on which Commissioner of Baseball Landis expelled the both from organized baseball were made public Saturday by the commissioner. The documents totaled approximately 2,000 words and included not only the confessions but other testimony and evidence received by the commissioner in connection with the attempted bribery intended to aid the Giants in their 1924 pennant race. Under questioning by Commissioner Landis Cozy Dolan, the Giants coach at that time—the interrogation took place on Sept. 30, after O'Connell had told Landis that Dolan had suggested that he approach Henrie Sands, Philadelphia shortstop and offer him $500, if he "would not bear on too hard" on the Giants—several times said he did not remember.

WAUPACA DEFEATS CLINTONVILLE FIVE

Waupaca City basketball five Thursday night defeated the crack Clintonville team, 27 to 16, at Clintonville. The Waupaca five took a commanding lead with five field goals in the first five minutes of play and after that they never headed. The score at the half was Waupaca 14, Clintonville 5.

Swanke played an excellent game for Clintonville, caging five shots, while Madsen got seven for Waupaca.
 The lineup:

BASING SPORTS DROP BERLIN TILT, 33-31

Basing Sports Wednesday invaded Berlin and then dropped a fast basketball game, 33 to 31, to the Berlin quintet. The Sports at the end of the half were leading, 15 to 11, but in the last half the Berlin eagles came back with a rush and managed to nose the invaders out during the last five minutes of play. According to Myrtle Basing, manager of the Sports, one of his men caged the ball during the last three minutes of play. There was no foul on the basket and the referee failed to see the ball go through and count the basket, which would have tied the score, Basing says.

Next week the Sports plan to journey to Ripon where they meet another strong team.

CHOOSE STEENIS CHIEF OF ORANGE GRID SQUAD

Ed Steenis, right tackle on the Appleton high school football squad last season, Friday was elected captain for the coming year to succeed Clifford Courtney, who graduates in June. Steenis is a junior. He has been on the squad for two years and will be one of the very few veterans back on the first string next season. The new captain was elected by lettermen immediately after 15 regulars had received their "A's" during the assembly period Friday.

Rival Clubs ShakeHoodoo In Big Trade

St. Louis—In the trade of Joe Bush of New York for Brian Shocker of St. Louis, each club eliminated a jinx pitcher.
 For years Joe Bush has been an enigma to the St. Louis Browns. Until they beat him last season, "Bullet Joe" had won 17 in a row from the Browns.
 Ever since New York traded Shocker to St. Louis years ago he has been getting a lot of satisfaction trimming the Yankees. He has done it with regularity.
 St. Louis players will welcome the coming of Bush, while New York will give Shocker just as warm a greeting.
 Babe Ruth, in particular, will be glad he no longer has to match wits with Shocker, who invariably had the edge.

Only Six Days Left To Enter Annual Ice Skating Tournament

Entry Lists Will Close on Thursday, Jan. 15 and Prospective Contenders Must Hasten to Get in Six days will see the entry lists for the third annual Post-Crescent skating tournament closed, and but twelve have been received thus far. Junior boys are heading the list with seven entries. Senior men are second with three and senior girls and intermediate boys with one each are trailing at the bottom. There are at least ten more men who have stated their intention to enter in Appleton alone, but for some unknown reason they are holding off.

There appears to be a lack of interest in the greatest event on the winter sport card of the valley in cities outside of Appleton. All entries received thus far are from this city. Kaukauna, Neenah and Menasha all have numbers of expert skaters as they proved last year and the year before in the Fox River Valley Hockey league. It may be they fear to lose or lack confidence in their ability. At any rate, none of them have been heard from as yet, and unless they get their entries in a hurry, they will be too late to get in at all.

Hortonville, New London, Kimberly and Little Chute also remain among the missing. All these cities have excellent opportunities for skating in their own backyards and therefore must be able to drum up at least a score each of fast skaters. This is true as well of a number of cities and towns in the valley. All of them who never have skated professionally are eligible to enter, and will be shown the same courtesy and fairness as Appleton entries.

The medals and silver cup which will go to the winners arrived seven days ago and will be placed on exhibition in the showwindows of the Post-Crescent offices Saturday. The medals are of dull gold, and bear the figure of a speeding skater in relief upon their faces, with the backs left blank to provide space for engraving the name of the winner, date, occasion and whatever else the owner wishes to commemorate. The cup is of silver.

Application blanks are printed on the sport page daily. Anyone in the Fox River Valley area who is not a professional is eligible for entrance in his or her class, and every entrant will have an equal chance to take one of the prizes.

DOROTHY GANZEN, BILL GROTH ROLL HIGH SCORE

Rolling a set of mixed doubles on the Olympic alleys here Friday evening, Miss Dorothy Ganzen and William Groth piled up a total of 1256. Miss Ganzen topped 195, 175, and 204 pins for a total of 574, while Groth crashed through the maple for 227, 228 and 227, a total of 682. Groth's score is one of the highest rolled in Appleton. This season, while Miss Ganzen establishes a high mark for women here to shoot at.

San Francisco—"Bermondsey" Bill Wells, British welterweight won a decision in eight rounds over Chick Roach, San Francisco.

LAWRENCE LOSES TO NORTHWESTERN

Two Baskets in last Minute of play Gives Napiersville College Victory

Lawrence college Friday night lost the second of its series of three games in Illinois to Northwestern at Napiersville, 28 to 21. The invaders led until the last minute when Northwestern sunk two shots to win the game. The Napiersville collegians are tall rangers, much more than an advantage over their visitors. The Lawrentians were accustomed to a much larger floor than that at North western, which was an added handicap. It is reported the floor at Wheaton also is small. Lawrence plays there Saturday night in the last game of the three.

WILL GRAPPLES BRITISH CHAMP

George Hill, former Appleton mat artist, will grapple Sam Clapham, British heavyweight champion, at Waupaca on Jan. 14. It had been intended to match the winner with "Strangler" Lewis in a title bout but probably the Strangler's disastrous defeat will cancel this match. This is carded as Wisconsin's most important match of the season. Preliminaries featuring Oshkosh New London, Manawa and Waupaca boys will precede the main bout. The first preliminary is scheduled for 8:30 P. M.

The Referee

What is the lowest batting percentage to ever win the championship in the major leagues?—F. D. Larry Doyle, with a mark of .323 in 1915, is the lowest figure to ever win in the National, while Ty Cobb with .324 in 1908, is the lowest average to take the title in the American. How long has Gene Tunney been fighting and was he ever knocked out?—H. G.

"Tunny" started during the World War at camps in France. He turned pro in 1919. He has never been knocked out. He has only lost one decision, that to Harry Greb. Please give all possible dope on sad Terry, prominent featherweight contender.—H. F. D. Briefly, Terry has been fighting only a little over two years. As an amateur boxer he hung up the remarkable record of 50 consecutive victories. Since turning pro he has kept up his fine work and is considered a coming champion in the east.

FAVOR GOPHER TO DEFEAT WISCONSIN

Illini Have Edge on Chicago as Western Conference Lifts Caging Lid

By Associated Press
 Chicago — The struggle for championship honors in the Western conference basketball race begins in earnest Saturday night when all the leading contenders make their conference debuts.

Eight teams, groomed by pre-season conflicts with a variety of opponents, take the floor. Ohio battles Indiana at Columbus; Michigan takes on Northwestern at Ann Arbor; Minnesota meets Wisconsin at Minneapolis, and Chicago and Illinois engage in Chicago.

Coach Olson of the Buckeyes has five veterans to send against the Hoosiers. Chicago is handicapped by the loss of Captain Weiss and inability of Dale Allen, making the Illini a favorite to win. Northwestern with a new captain in John Karstens, named to replace "Bo" Graham originally chosen but declared ineligible before the season opened, go to Ann Arbor without Barney Mathews, regular guard, who is ill. Pre-season performance and weight gives Minnesota a slight edge over Wisconsin, although Iowa humbled the Gophers earlier in the week.

SOME thick-lipped moian has been shaking the cauliflower vine and fistic fedoras are clattering up the lawn like cracker boxes at a Sunday school picnic.

Abe Goldstein took his hantaweight title out in the sun as if it were all bull and a yard deal, and now he is writing his memoirs after the melancholy manner of all dethroned kings.

One Cannonball Martin pounced on Mr. Goldstein's bogus reputation with both feet, two rapiers suits and the persuasive influences of a full quota of glass-eyed jugs.

When the cannon fodder and Abe stopped swinging the judges were blasted from their stupor and asked for their decision. "We think Landis is holding out on us," they replied.

Whereupon Johnny Dundee booked passage for Rome and left the feather weight title to the tender mercies of the 135 and Danny Kramer, saying, "May the best man win."

While Dundee was being blessed by the pope Kaplan was subjecting Kramer to a triple-plated penance that would have made a lifer in Sing Sing ashamed of his downright good luck.

Mr. Dempsey is another invincible boxing great who is accumulating more opposition than Mussolini's iron fist and ignoring it in a manner pleasing to none but Dr. Dempsey.

What the ring needs is a return to the days when champions were fit in ability and were cultured fellows, and rode in horse cars.

STRANGLER RESTING AFTER LOSING CROWN

Kansas City, Mo.—Ed "Strangler" Lewis, injured here Thursday night in his wrestling match with Wayne Bjek Munn in which he lost his heavyweight championship, was resting comfortably Saturday at the hospital where he was taken following the match. Lewis suffered a sprain of the sore line joint when he slipped or was thrown outside the ring.

EAST GREEN BAY BEATS MARINETTE

By Associated Press
 Green Bay—East Green Bay defeated Marinette high by the score of 23 to 13 in a Fox River Valley conference game here Friday night. The contest marked the dedication of the gymnasium in the new east high school. Brilliant shooting by Althous and Burke enabled the Green Bay team to win in a walk. Parrish starred for Marinette.

Manitowoc—Manitowoc High school, lost to the West Green Bay basketball team here Friday night by a score of 12 to 7. Manitowoc was leading at the half, 6 to 3. The game was slow with both teams showing only occasional flashes.

LEGION QUINT DROPS GAME TO HORTONVILLE
 Hortonville Friday night shot its way to a 24 to 18 victory over the Appleton Legionnaires who were playing their opening game at Hortonville. The invaders were leading, 19 to 8 at the half but a series of long chancy shots gave Hortonville the game in the second half. Stefan starred for the Hortonville team. Jacobson, Tornow and Courtney played a good game for the Appleton team.

Hollywood, Calif.—Ace Hudkins, Nebraska lightweight, won a decision over Tommy Carter of Los Angeles in ten rounds.

Widow Uses Subtly In Her Playing

BY CYNTHIA GREY
The widow is the wisest of women. She combines the experience of a wife with the cynicism of a sub-deb. She knows that what a man wants is sympathy always, advice never! She knows, too, that the way to a man's heart is through his digestive apparatus. After a good dinner she holds a match to her swain's Corona-Carona, and leaves him to himself. She never says "a penny for your thoughts," hoping they're of her. She knows that he probably isn't thinking at all, just smoking.

Not for her, the public lipstick and the unashamed powder puff of the mere girl. For she knows that a man's love dies with his illusions—especially his illusions about a woman's complexion.

She may refer to her first sweet heart, but never to her first husband. And only when she's ready for a proposal does she inform that her heart is not half so near as King Tut!

QUESTIONS—ANSWERS
Dear Miss Grey: My wife goes out every afternoon in the week. She lives at the picture shows. And she spends all our money on clothes, so that we hardly ever have a decent meal. How can I stop her from acting this way?—Machinist.

Budget your salary. And pay all your household bills yourself. For a while, giving your wife only her own allowance. I think this will teach her to be more fair in the spending of money. And insist that she does not neglect her house in her entire absence for picture shows. Explain to her that her house is her first duty. This thought, evidently has not occurred to your wife.

Dear Miss Grey: We have a little house. The dining room table seats only eight. How can I give a party to twenty people?—Blude.

You might use your dining room table as a buffet, and have card tables around the house set for four people each. Have knives and forks and glasses at each place. Then let the men serve the women from the big table where the plates and napkins can be piled. Chicken patties, hot rolls, fruit salad, French pastry and coffee is one menu for a successful buffet supper. Dance or play cards, afterward.

USE EARTHEN BOWL.
Use an earthen bowl and a wooden spoon for mixing cakes, muffins and batters.

UNPOLISHED RICE.
Buy unpolished rice when possible and avoid that with broken kernels.

IMPROVES FLAVOR.
Ham and corned beef are greatly improved in flavor if they are partially cooked in the water in which they were boiled.

MENDING PASTE.
A very good paste for mending picture frames of china is made by putting a little white of egg in a saucer and stirring in enough whiting to make a thick paste.

MEASURE CUFFS.
To measure a cuff of dry material like linen or sugar, fill the cuff with a spoon or scoop and level off with a case knife.

FASHION HINTS
FOR STREET DRESS
Bengaline in brown and black continues to be one of the smartest materials for street dresses. It is developed in a crisp and wider weave than when it was first exploited.

NEW HATS
Many new hats are made entirely of ribbon, usually in very narrow widths.

LILIES POPULAR
Water lilies in pink or any of the pastel shades have become as popular as orchid or chrysanthemums for shoulder corages.

How To Make Homes Cozy
PLACE RUGS SQUARELY
Rugs, small or large, should be placed square with the lines of the room. A small rug between two large ones looks better parallel to them in the intervening space than drawn any way across.

Baby's Health

CHILDREN'S BUREAU, U. S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

MILK
The spectator in any city market who watches the procession of housewives as they make their morning purchases of food supplies, will be impressed with the critical eye and dainty poke with which they carefully examine vegetables, meats and other products offered them as food for their families.

If the same spectator will turn his attention to the same group of housewives and their relation to the milk man, he will doubtless be surprised to find how little attention is paid to the quality of the milk purchased, either as to its inherent food value, as represented by the per cent of butter fat and total food solids, or its healthfulness, as represented by the absence of foreign matter or contamination of harmful bacteria.

The milk men from Maine to California will almost universally testify that the housekeeper's general concern is the price, and yet modern science has done so much to improve a large proportion of the milk supply of the country that in most towns and cities the critical housekeeper can find a marked difference in the quality of the milk offered her.

Some of it is produced in congested stables, from unclean cows, handled by unclean attendants, and delivered by unclean help; while for the same price, sometimes, and often for a very little increase, a milk produced from healthy cows in clean surroundings, by clean attendants, can be secured that is not only properly cooled, but has been thoroughly pasteurized to guard against the accidental inoculation of some disease-producing bacteria, such as typhoid fever or, more commonly, those causing infantile diarrhea. In many cities, the discriminating housewife may find a high grade milk available for her family at a market price that makes it a very much cheaper food than meat and many other articles used more generally.

Refrigeration—After milk is delivered, it should be placed immediately in the ice box, where the temperature should be below 50 degrees F.

Adventures Of The Twins

THE SOOTIES

"The Sooties are very, very busy these days," said Johnny Sweep as he guided his broom toward a house-top. The twins still holding on tight with both hands.

"Why?" asked Nancy.
"Don't you know?" cried Johnny Sweep. "The Sooties and the Swifts. There's all as busy as bees carrying notes."

"Carrying notes?" cried Nancy.
"What kind of notes? And who are the Swifts?"

Johnny Sweep laughed merrily. His voice trailed off through the wintry air with such a funny little tinkling sound that Farmer Brown said to Mrs. Brown, "It's going to snow! I know because the wind sounds so queer. Just as though it had heard a good joke and was smiling about it out loud."

And he put more wood on the fire and poked up the ashes in the fireplace and sparks flew up the chimney.

The sparks went up the chimney and told the notes.
"It's going to snow!" they said to the Sooties.

And some of the Sooties flew out of the chimney to see.
They didn't see any snow, but they saw Johnny Sweep away off in the distance riding on his broom and behind him two children holding on for dear life.

Johnny Sweep was laughing and laughing.
"Who are the Swifts?" Nancy repeated.

"Why they are the chimney birds. And the notes are the notes the children in the house write to Santa Claus at the North Pole. How did you think the notes got to Santa Claus after they were written?"

"We didn't exactly know," said Nancy.
As they passed Farmer Brown's house and saw all the funny little Sooties waving to them from the chimney top, the Twins and Johnny Sweep waved back.

"Aren't you going to stop?" asked Nick.
"Not here," said Johnny Sweep. "There are no little boys here. Or no little girls. At this time of year I haven't time to visit. Everybody is working hard and I must help. You have no idea what a task it is to run this North Pole postal route."

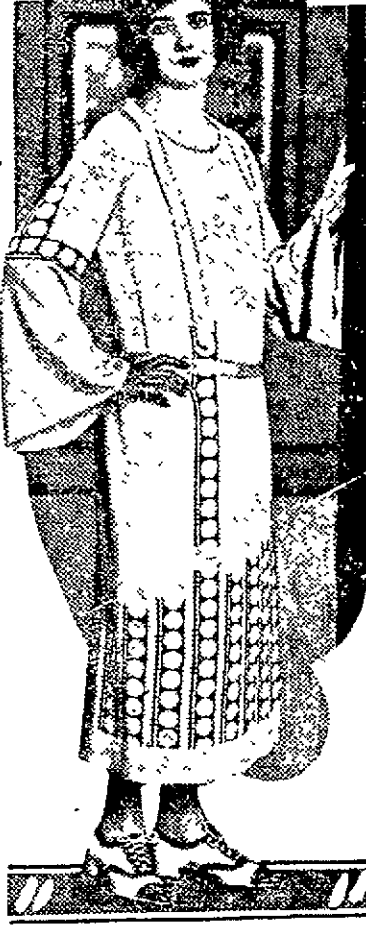

"May we help?" asked Nancy.
"No, no, no, no, no," laughed Johnny Sweep. "Did you think that I just appeared to day by accident? No, sir! I came on purpose to get you. This chimney business is some affair. And that's not all! The little mischief makers sit on the chimneys any try to stop the Swifts and Sooties as they go out carrying notes to the North Pole. They try to blow the notes away."

"That's pretty mean," cried Nancy.
"Yes, isn't it?" said Johnny Sweep, giving his broom a jerk to hurry it up. "Somebody has to play policeman all the time to keep these old nuisance furies away. There we are now at the first place. I do believe I see a nuisance fairy sitting on the chimney now, although they usually wait until night."

Bordered Silk

Here is an excellent example of how effectively bordered silk may be used. The printed design in black on the white gown affords all the trimming necessary, save the straps that break the plainness of the front. In buying a bordered material it is well to select one such as this with a design that may be cut for bandings and trimmings if necessary, as it allows greater latitude in the choice of a style. The sleeves are most attractive and are decidedly different from the average run.

Mr. Hamilton retired and left you at the head of the business, he still would have a feeling that you should come to him for advice and suggestions. He is a very wonderful man, Mr. Prescott, but I don't think you would be happy with anyone to whom you felt under obligation. You have much the same disposition in that regard that I have.

"You know I am under obligations to your wife for my first job after Sam went blind, with her father, and I'm ashamed to say it has always nipped me, that I have never been as free with Leslie since. I never can help thinking when I am with her that I owe perhaps all my success in life to her, and I don't want to do so. I want to be independent of everybody."

"I think one can see from what you have read me from Mrs. Hamilton's letter, that the one thing which gives him most pride in you is the fact that you have never asked him for help, and I think he will have more regard and respect for you if you even refuse this fine offer."

"Your books show at the present moment that you're getting along fine, and I see no reason why next year you could not go in business for yourself."

I tell you, Syd, that girl has got a lot of common sense. I don't know why it is, but I can take her advice much better than I can Leslie's, who, by the way, has often told me about the same thing. Isn't it strange that a man will talk over his business problems often with another woman than he does with his wife? And he certainly will take her advice quicker. Perhaps it is because he thinks she is disinterested in him—or perhaps it is because he is flattered by her interest in him.

I expect after this letter from Mrs. Hamilton I'll have to go over and see the Hamiltons.

Sincerely,
JACK.

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO SYDNEY CARTON

I'm enclosing you a letter from my mother-in-law, old chap—not for publication, but as an earnest of my good faith. Besides, I want you to understand perfectly how well I stand with my in-laws.

It really seems to me as though everybody is conspiring to make little Jack a rich man. With Mr. Hamilton making him a legatee and Paul Perler dividing her salary with him, and of course Leslie wanting to give him everything that I will have to leave, it looks to me as if that boy had certainly been born with a silver spoon in his mouth, although his mother nearly starved to death before his coming.

Before you make any suggestions about my going over to take on the Hamilton business, I want to tell you that I shall not do it. It might be a great opening for me, but I know nothing about steel, and I do know the advertising business and I know I shall make a great deal of money in it. It can be did, and I'm the guy that can do it if necessary.

I guess you called the turn on Leslie's sister. I've hunted all over the house for that anonymous letter, but can't find it. I remember the day I was quarreling with Leslie over it. I had it in my hand, but I don't remember it since. I suppose she found it and has hidden it away from me.

I read that part of the letter in which Mrs. Hamilton speaks about my going into the firm to Mrs. Alden. When I finished she said quickly:

"You're not going to do it, are you, Mr. Prescott?"

"I thought you would advise me to," I remarked.

"I wouldn't advise any person to step into an easy job," she said. "If

SISTER Mary's KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY
Breakfast—Grapefruit, hominy grits with raisins, thin cream, country sausage, potatoes hushed in milk, buckwheat cakes, sirup, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Chartreuse of rice and chicken, combination fruit salad with golden dressing, graham bread, stewed figs, milk, tea.

Dinner—Italian stew, baked potatoes, celery and cream cheese salad, Washington cream pie, whole wheat bread, cranberry sauce, milk, coffee.

Reserve enough round steak to make into cakes and broil for children under school age as the Italian stew is not a dish for juniors.

CHARTREUSE OF RICE AND CHICKEN
One cup rice, 2 cups cold chopped chicken, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon onion juice, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 egg, 4 tablespoons fine dried bread crumbs, water or milk.

Boil rice. Add salt, pepper, onion juice and parsley to chicken and mix thoroughly with crumbs. Add egg slightly beaten and mix well. Add enough milk or water to make moist enough to pack. Line a deep well buttered mold with rice, using about three-fourths of it. Fill with chicken mixture and cover with remaining rice. Cover tightly and steam for 45 minutes. Unmold and serve with stewed celery or tomatoes.

COMBINATION FRUIT SALAD
One banana, 1 orange, 4 slices

SUFFERED AFTER BIRTH OF BABY

Trouble Caused by Getting Up Too Soon. Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Taleville, New York.—"I thought it would interest you to know what benefit I have derived from taking your medicine. A few days after the birth of my third child I got up too quick. Then just before my fifth child was born I had inflammation of the bladder and displacement. Seeing your advertisement in a Liverpool (England) paper I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and that was the best confinement I had. Whenever I feel run down I always take the Vegetable Compound as a tonic. We have just removed from Brockville (Canada) so I was pleased when the store ordered the medicine for me and I got it today. I would not be without it for any price and I recommend it to ladies around here because I feel so sure it will benefit any woman who takes it."—Mrs. AGNES WIGNALL, Taleville, New York.

Women can depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve them from all their peculiar troubles. For sale by druggists everywhere.

canned pineapple, 10 preserved cherries, 1/4 cup seeded white grapes. Peel orange and remove skin from sections. Peel banana and scrape lightly. Cut in slices. Cover with pineapple cut in small pieces. Add cherries, drained from sirup and grapes seeded and cut in halves. The fruit is combined this way to prevent the bananas from discoloring after slicing. Add three or four tablespoons of golden dressing and serve on a bed of lettuce.

GOLDEN DRESSING
One-fourth cup pineapple juice, 4 tablespoons lemon juice, 1-3 cup sugar, few grains salt, 2 eggs. Beat eggs slightly, just enough to blend white and yolk. Add lemon juice, pineapple juice and sugar and salt and cook in double boiler. Stir constantly until mixture coats the spoon. Remove at once and cool over cold water.

ITALIAN STEW
One and one-half pounds round steak ground, 6 tablespoons dried bread crumbs, 4 tablespoons grated cheese, juice 1 onion, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4

all sides. Dredge with 2 tablespoons flour and brown again. Add 1 cup boiling water and tomato juice. Cover and simmer two hours. Add macaroni and salt and cook 30 or 40 minutes longer. Serve on a hot platter and sprinkle with remaining grated cheese.

As Easy As Drawing Your Breath

Reading the Post-Crescent A-B-C Classified section and finding what you want when you want it—is just as easy as drawing your breath.

And much easier than drawing a large check!

As a matter of fact—you won't have to draw heavily upon your capital to secure classified bargains. They are easily found, easily bought and easily paid for.

Suppose you want an automobile. Just look under "A" in both the main groups and in the sub-classification. That will bring you to "Automotive," under which you will immediately see "Automobiles For Sale."

It's just as easy as drawing out the "A" drawer of an efficient filing system—in fact, having that "Number 11" there makes it a bit easier.

And finally—it's comforting to know that you will not encounter any price hardships. The most economical offers in the city are available through the A-B-C Classified Columns.

Eveleth Pastor Refutes Newspaper Reports of Bernard's Burial

By Associated Press
Duluth, Minn.—Father D. V. Patt, priest in charge of St. Patrick's Catholic church at Eveleth, Minn., Saturday denied published reports that funeral services for E. X. Bernard, Hillsboro chemist, who committed suicide at Andover after seriously wounding Miss Lora Palmer, instructress in the University of Wisconsin, would be held in his church or that he would officiate at services outside the church.

Father Patt made his announcement following consultation here during the morning with clergymen of the diocese. He said the first knowledge he had of the announcement published was reading it in a newspaper, and that the announcement of the place of the funeral was made entirely without authority.

INSURANCE AGENTS ENTERING BIG YEAR. BABSON PREDICTS

Business Experts Suggest Insurance as Form of Investment

Rabson Park, Mass. — Three years ago Roger W. Babson, the statistician, was severely criticized by many insurance men because he advised certain of his wealthy clients to cash in a portion of their life insurance. He pointed out that good securities were then very low and that it was good business for a man to have as much as possible of his money in bonds. Mr. Babson made it clear that no insurance should be cancelled which in any way jeopardized adequate protection for one's family. He was referring to insurance taken as an investment. Since that time securities have risen sharply in price while life insurance is obtainable for the same figure. In view of this changed situation Mr. Babson today issued the following statement:

"As the price of stocks and bonds climbs upward life insurance becomes more attractive as an investment. Of course it has been only during recent years that life insurance has been sold as an investment. It started like fire insurance and other forms of insurance, as a method of mutual protection. Men took out what they needed in order to take care of their families in case of death. It has only been in recent years that insurance has been taken out for corporations, business houses, and estates. Of course protective insurance should be taken out by everyone to a certain amount, and should never be cancelled, cashed in, or switched. If, however, a man gets enough insurance to take care of his family any additional insurance really becomes an investment rather than insurance. Some life insurance men may disagree with this distinction, but I am sure every fair minded analyst would make it. I mention this distinction because, not being an insurance expert, it is only in relation to such investment insurance that I have any right to speak.

"I have always advised the purchase of insurance for protection irrespective of what price securities are selling for and whatever the conditions in the security market. A man who needs protection should take out insurance. The only disagreement I have had with insurance agents is due to the fact that protective insurance is less attractive when security prices are low and more attractive when security prices are high. Because investment insurance is always at the same price must be judged by what the same money will buy in other forms of investment. In a way it is the means between the high and low of the security market. This very fact that it is a mean, is reason that large insurance companies are so strong and insurance is so safe.

"Whether or not insurance agents will agree with me as to which is the better investment three years ago, insurance or securities, I am sure they will agree with me now when I say that insurance as an investment is becoming more attractive each day. That is to say, as security prices go up insurance which remains at a constant figure, becomes more attractive as an investment. The truth is that when stocks and bonds cross the average normal line on the upward movement insurance becomes an attractive investment. This especially applies to twenty payment life and various forms of endowment insurance which get a fixed sum of money on a specified date.

"I believe that 1925 will be a good year and that many issues will see higher prices than they have already reached, but I also believe that investors should take account of stock as to their insurance holdings. No man should have all his investments in stocks, bonds, insurance, real estate, or any other one thing. All of one's capital in Government bonds is not a safe method of investing. Diversification is the basis of the soundest method of investing. The point I wish to make today is that in diversifying consider insurance as a possible investment for a portion of your surplus funds during 1925.

"In purchasing endowment insurance use some sense as to maturity. For instance, in paying a $20,000 endowment policy a man should consider his age in determining the duration of the policy. It is apt to be more dangerous than beneficial to have a $20,000, twenty year policy mature when he is forty. On the other hand, it is unreasonable for a man forty to take out a twenty year endowment policy if it is to be arranged so that $20,000 will come due when you are sixty, $20,000 when you are sixty-two, and so forth until you are seventy. Then as you can afford additional insurance have it mature in a similar series of years beginning when you are seventy.

"I am very hopeful of the insurance business for the next few years. I believe all the large companies will do a record business and wide awake, honest agents should prosper with their companies. I am very optimistic on the stock of most of the larger insurance companies. The insurance business has developed to stupendous proportions yet it is still in its infancy when judged by its possibilities. Moreover, under careful government supervision of the insurance companies, and the fact that they are officered and directed by capable, conscientious men should make that security as well as their policies, sound in vestments for a portion of your surplus funds."

Dividend Announcements Make Business Confident

BY JOHN T. FLYNN

New York—Reports of more and numerous favorable dividends, a continued throbbing in the stock markets, the climb of the Pound Sterling to par and the undoubted rise in the rate of industrial production constitute the most important factors in the developments in business.

Without going into a minute explanation of the process it is sufficient to say that financiers here believe the rise of the Pound Sterling to par will be a distinct benefit to trade in this country.

From more than one quarter comes evidence that industrial production is slowly climbing. And he may look for a material improvement in the extent of employment in the course of the next three months.

ON THE EXCHANGES

When will stocks settle down to the simple life? Monday they slumped violently. Tuesday they leaped again. Did this slump represent a premonitory jolt, boding the coming of a period of calm and of more or less settled prices? Or was it just a momentary pause in the flight upward of shares? Here is one angle on the securities market. The first rush in the exchanges following the election represented a loosening up by investors following a long period of uncertainty. It reflected the returned confidence of investors. Now the continued bulging of the market is based on many things that have been going on in the industrial work which represent a discarding of the super caution which has long characterized the movement of business men. For instance in the early part of the week many dividend announcements occasioned no little pleasurable surprise. These dividends as in the case of the Atchafalaya, were declared because the companies now feel they no longer pursue quest about the immediate future. The roads believe there will be no embarrassing legislation and hence still further favorable dividend announcements are looked forward to in this quarter. This release from extraordinary caution—this revival of confidence on the part of industrial leaders, has confirmed the investors and speculators in their present spirit and given a new impetus to Wall Street operations. Thus little by little expansion gathers force and may, if not checked, actually grow to inflationary proportions.

RAILROADS IMPROVE EARNINGS

The railroads report increased net operating revenues in November as compared with the same month last year. The net earnings for the month were $93,177,560. In November 1923, the net earnings were $88,720,520. The increase was due entirely to reduced operating costs, because gross revenues were less. This earnings record represents a yield of 4.32 per cent on property investment.

BIG HAULS AHEAD

The carriers are confident the coming year will bring still better results. For they hope to still further reduce operating costs while at the same time traffic will be heavier. The prediction is that more freight will be carried this year than in any other twelve months in the history of the roads.

LIGHTING THE FURNACES

The steel corporation continues to rekindle the fires in its furnaces. Last July it was running its mills at 40 per cent of capacity. Today it is operating at 88 per cent. Independent steel men are running close to 85 per cent of capacity. In the last five weeks the gain in steel production as a possible investment for a portion of your surplus funds during 1925.

Moreover, under careful government supervision of the insurance companies, and the fact that they are officered and directed by capable, conscientious men should make that security as well as their policies, sound in vestments for a portion of your surplus funds."

General business as reflected on the P. L. S. chart is now running at 1 per cent above normal.

Farm & Other Prices Showing Rise of Farm Dollar

There has been about 1 per cent a week.

A WEAK SISTER REVIVES

One of the sad members in the fraternity of industries for several years has been the copper mines. Notwithstanding enormous demand, production has outstripped it, particularly from low production cost countries. Thus the profit—which is the salt of trade—was extracted, though business was big. Demand seems now to have caught up with production to an extent sufficient to run prices up and hold them there. Some producers were asking 15 1/2 cents during the week.

SALESMEN SALLY FORTH

It has been some years since traveling salesmen have gone forth with such high hopes as fill the breasts of the army of drummers who have resumed their journeys following the Christmas holidays. They have been pumped full of optimism by the sales managers. And if business does not materialize on a very prosperous plane there is going to be some disappointment. There is going to be an improvement in trade. This time last year these same salesmen were being assailed on all sides with stories of sagging business. This year they are hearing a brighter song being sung and orders will be larger. But it is fair to forecast that orders will hardly keep pace with optimism. Trade has recovered but not quite as much as the boosters would have us believe. There are no reports on retail trade since the holidays, hence nothing on which to base an opinion of the coming year. But retailers here, at least, are confident of increasing sales. (Copyright by U. P. C. News Service, Inc.)

NOTE EXPANSION IN LUMBER SALES

Following the lull during the holiday season, demand for lumber is already expanding and there is every indication that trade will reach a large volume during the month, says the American Lumberman, Chicago. Retail dealers and industrial consumers, generally having completed their inventories are sending out a great many inquiries, in many cases for larger quantities than has been the rule for a long time. The improvement in the lumber movement would undoubtedly be even greater had not weather conditions in many parts of the country been decidedly unfavorable to outdoor work. The fundamental strength of the business situation in this country is making for greater confidence in transactions, and it appears as if dealers and consumers are preparing to stock up moderately.

Reports from southern pine territory reflect the strong position of that wood. Many mills have been closed down for their annual repairs, and others have been taking inventories. With order files already comfortably filled, they have been decidedly indifferent to new business, especially in view of their very low and broken stocks. Southern retailers continue to buy on a large scale due to the building activity in that part of the country, and yards in most other sections, but particularly in the middle West, are showing a great deal of interest in the market. Oil field business continues good; railroads are still buying large quantities of car and maintenance material, and exports are of good volume. Prospects are considered excellent. Prices are firmly held and continue to show an upward tendency.

BOOK PRINTED BY MEYER PRESS IS GIVEN BIG PRIZE

Annual Printing Company Lists Big College Among Its Clients

Entered in competition with school annuals from all parts of the United States, a book produced by the Meyer Press for the West High school of Green Bay, has been awarded the title of "All-American Annual."

The contest is conducted by the Central Interscholastic Press Association with headquarters at Madison, and among the judges are included the editor of the largest printers' trade journal and instructors from the Chicago Art Institute.

The schools of the nation are divided into four classes according to their size and the best book in each classification is called the "All-American." Entered in the contest were annuals sent by schools in all parts of the country, Massachusetts and Georgia, Washington and California.

Among the most important points considered in making the awards were the excellence of the printing and of the general makeup of the book. No annuals entered in the contest received a higher rating than the book produced by the local concern.

Meyer Press has been turning out school annuals for the past five years among its year book customers are listed Lawrence College, Beloit College, Milwaukee-Dowder College, Stevens Point, Normal, Whitewater, Normal and the High Schools of Appleton, West Green Bay, Wausau, Stevens Point, Waukesha, Menomonee Falls, Shawano, Brillion, Waupun, Mineral Point, Shiocton, Waupaca and Menasha.

Few classes of printing demand higher quality than school annual work and a printing plant must be very well equipped and must have a staff of real craftsmen before successful school annuals can be produced. The fact that the business of the Meyer Press in this class of work has doubled in the past two years and that quality is usually the deciding factor in placing the contracts, speaks well for the work done by the local concern.

School annuals, high grade catalogues and direct-by-mail advertising matter makes up the largest portion of the Meyer Press production. They maintain a complete direct-mail advertising service, and prepare copy, plan campaigns and handle the art work for concerns in widely divergent lines.

Printed matter produced by the local concern helps sell a wide variety of products, from paper mill machinery, boilers, farm equipment, concrete mixers, stoves and ranges, to aluminum goods, gloves, shoes, pocket-books and halpkins. Shipments of printed matter have been made during the past few months to concerns in Arkansas and the Dominion of Canada, Washington and Idaho, Pennsylvania, New York and Connecticut. The large share of the work done by the Meyer Press goes to Wisconsin and Illinois concerns.

INTERNATIONAL FARM BLOC PLANNED IN SWITZERLAND

By Associated Press
Brugg, Switzerland—Politicians the world over will be struggling with an international farm bloc, known as the Green International. If the plans recently worked out here under the leadership of Professor Lauer are carried into execution, Representatives of the United States, England, Germany, France, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland, Holland and Hungary attended the meeting. It was decided to open a permanent secretarial office immediately with a view to launching the organization at a convention to be held next year in Warsaw.
